Your training path

Ingram Micro is here to help you on your Google Cloud learning path. There are several delivery formats to support partners in their learning. They include On-demand, Instructor-led, Hybrid, Hands-on labs, and live learning events. You can learn by product or enrol in a learning path with the objective of gaining certification. Once you are authorised to sell Google Cloud the learning is free. You just need to request access to the relevant platforms and enrol in the events you choose. Wherever you are in your learning journey we can help guide you through accessing the platforms and choosing the best options to help you achieve your learning goals.

There are three different types of badges that can be obtained:

- Credentials – Online test, achieving an 80% pass rate.
- Skills Badges – Complete a hands-on challenge lab to prove proficiency in a particular topic.
- Certification – Proctored exam demonstrating proficiency for using Google Cloud technology for specific roles.

Certifications are grouped into associate, and professional. (there is also a foundational certification, but it doesn't count as a technical certification when looking to achieve partner status)
